Western medicine is commonly used for medical care particularly in rich nations such as the U.S. and Canada. Most patients are unaware of the

Editor's Note

This issue is dedicated to the many volunteers who have helped keep the mission of HIV ReSources alive. An article in this issue highlights the need for health care providers to learn about the use of Gua Sha and Ba Guan. Richard Allen Freiberg's article offers information on the use of soft tissue manipulation methods that combine Gua Sha and Ba Guan into a treatment known as Ba Gua Fa. This effective

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) method helps people in pain, particularly those with disabling health conditions that are not helped by Western medicine. Like the knowledge in Richard's previous HIV Nutrition Update articles (Issues 32, 35, 37, 40, 42, 44- previews at www.NewsView.html), this valuable information offers a view of how TCM helps people with various illnesses.
